seen through all eyes

Almost everyone in the world has been blessed with the most remarkable piece of God's work; our eyes. Our eyes belong to only us and there is no living creature that can ever see what the individual sees; what he, the Rebel sees; what he, the passerby sees, or what we, the students see. We all, as individuals, observe and react to our surroundings in various ways, even though our motives and thoughts are similar. Savanna is seen everyday by those inside and out and the feelings expressed toward our school are actually a part of every student's life.

Student Body President, Randall Newkirk

council hosts casc conference

Cindy Eubanks and Debbi Krall listen to discussion.

Beginning with a leadership camp, held last summer in Riverside, the 1969-1970 student council headed by ASB President Randy Newkirk and Mr. Hoffmaster, Director of Activities, committed themselves to representing student interests in the most effective way possible. Besides appropriating club funds, planning school activities and other similar activities, the council had the honor of hosting the CASC Conference held at Savanna last fall. Their dedication contributed immeasurably to the success of the years activities and betterment of Savanna's image.

Senior Class Advisor, Mr. Bosna

Savanna seniors are involved in a time of decision as they take that step into life; graduation. Time is at essence, the challenge is clear and the goals lie ahead. Savanna will be gone but not forgotten by this year's seniors.

This past year many achievements were made by the senior class; Homecoming was successfully planned, the senior one-act plays were presented and seniors emerged victorious from spirit week.

With high school days behind, the class of '70 will go on to better things.

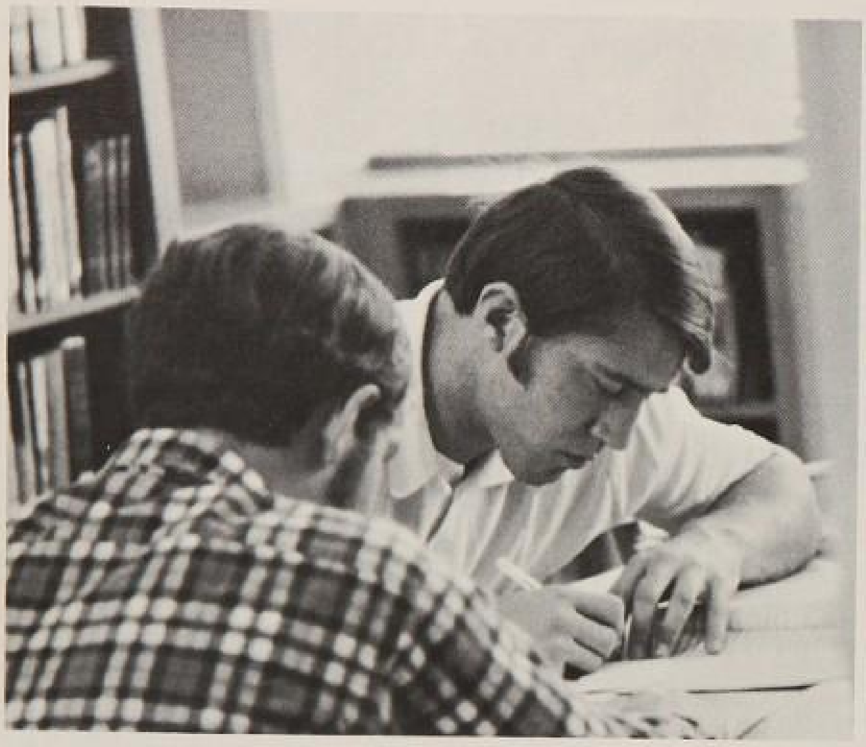
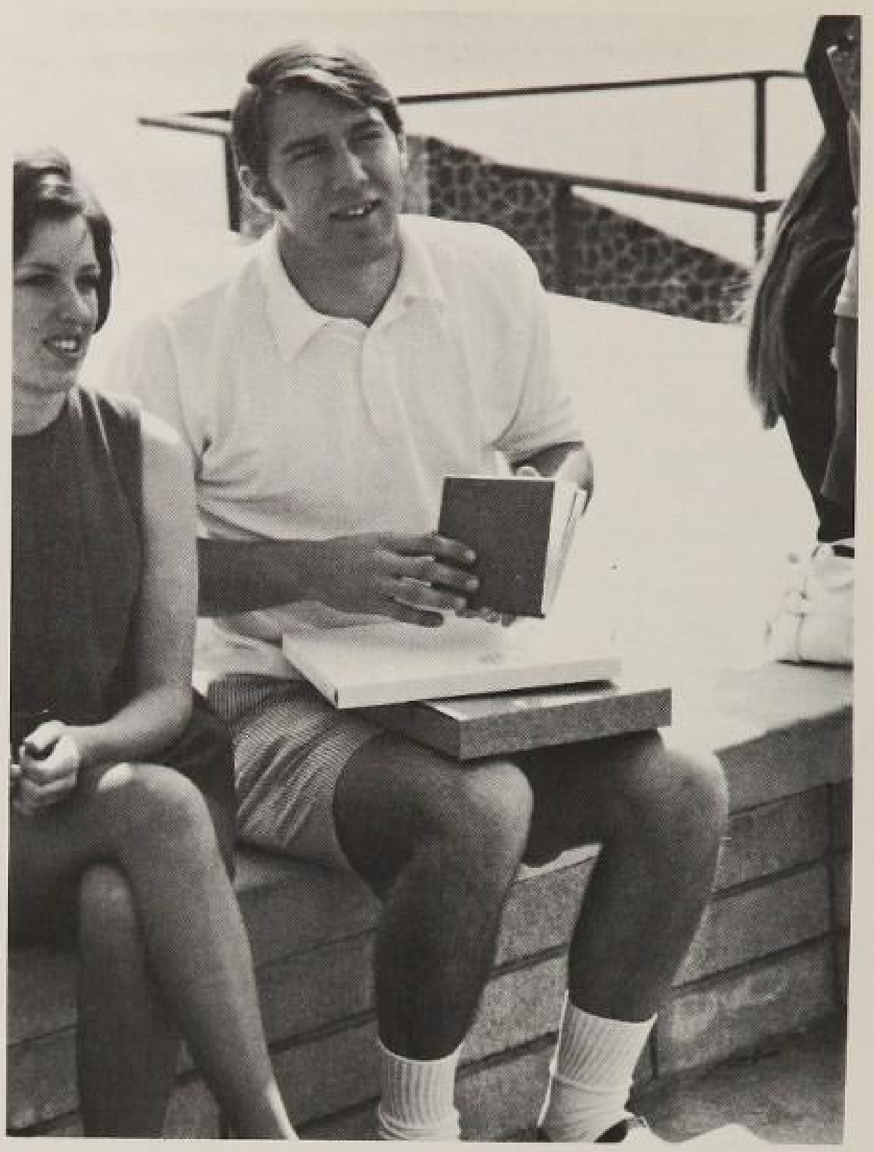
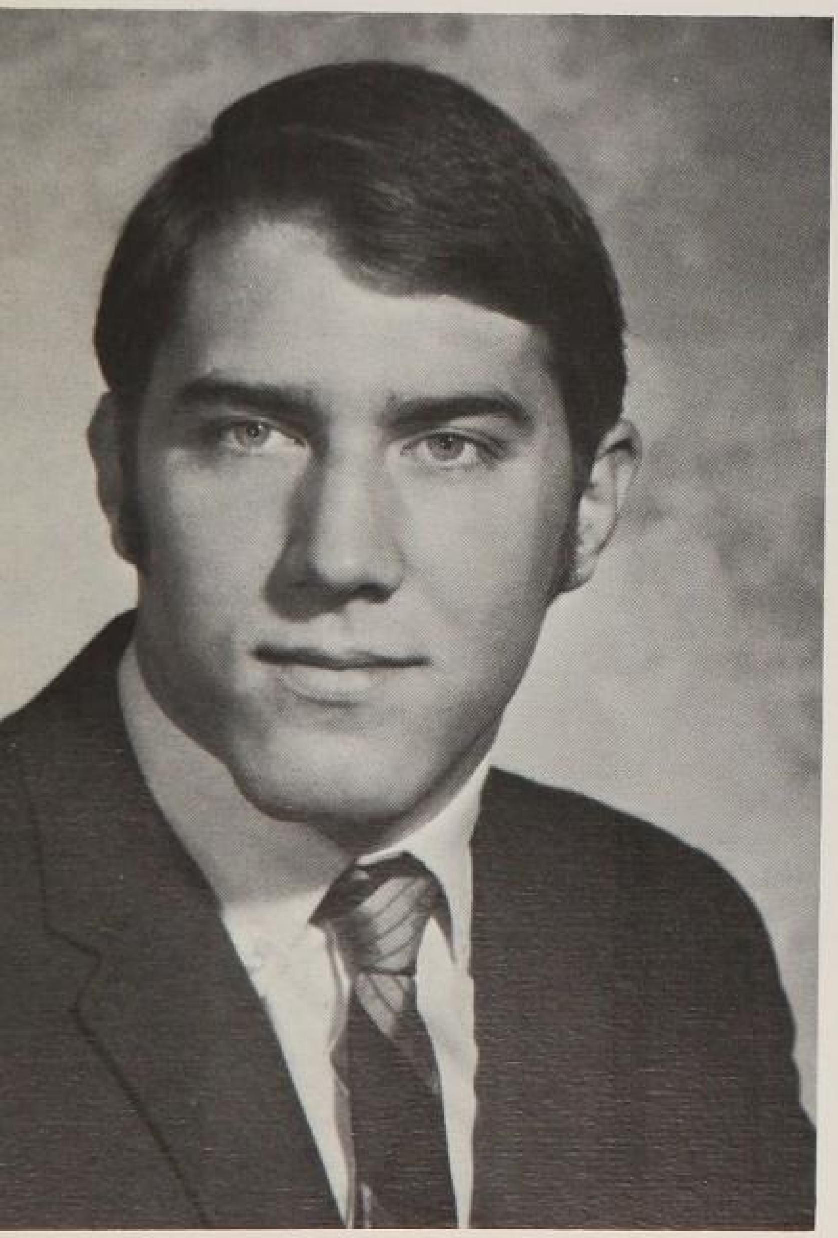
boy and girl of the year





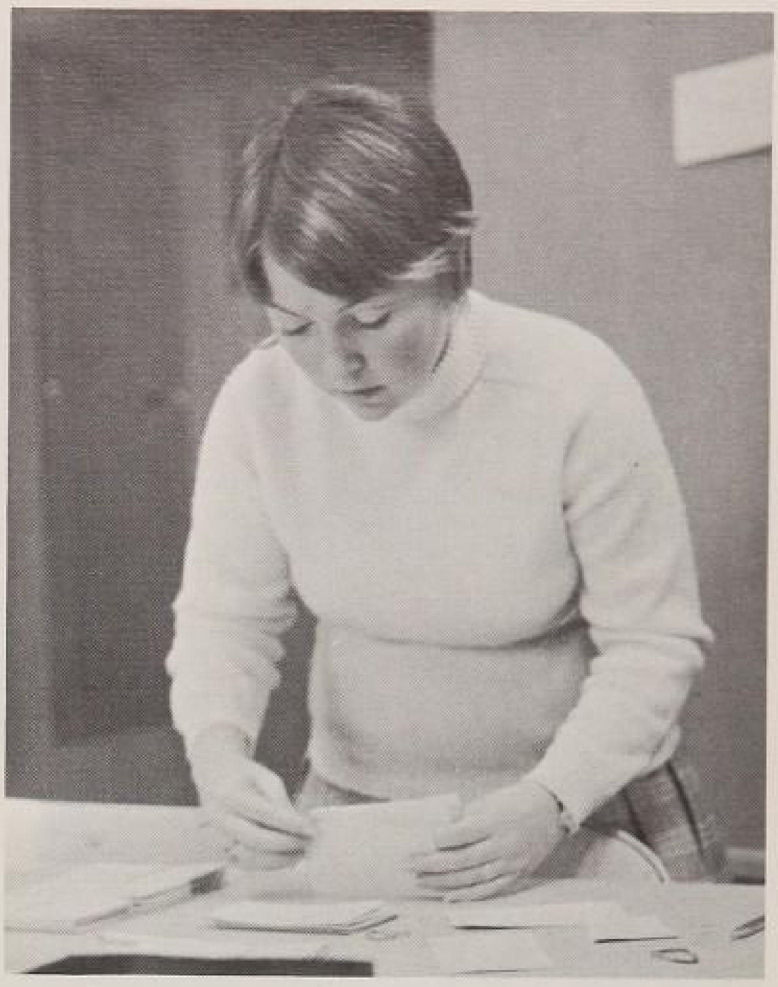


During his two years at Savanna, Bill Julian has shown excellence in sports and ademics.

Bill was a varsity member of out football, track and wrestling teams in his junior and serior years. He made CIF wrestling finals both years and was voted by his wrestling teammates the most valuable player.

Even with his great interest in sports Bill has found time to participate in the student government. As a junior he was in house and congress, and as a senior he was class president.

Bill's interest in school activities and his B grade average helped him to be named Outstanding Teenager of America at Savanna.



Cindi Eubanks has shown great pride in Savanna through her academic and extra curricular involvement.

With a gpa of 3.75, she has been a member of CSF for three years and was treasurer in her junior year. Her outstanding citizenship and effort was shown by her membership in NHS as a junior and senior and in being selected Outstanding Teenager of America at Savanna.

Active in student government and clubs, Cindy, a French club member for three years, was secretary in tenth grade and vice-president in twelfth. This year she was appointed secretary of both student congress and student council.

sign of the times sets pace

To the 1970 yearbook staff, the Savannan means more than pages filled with autographs and memories emphasizing school spirit, pride, and tradition. It represents the tangible result of a year creative efforts, backed by dedication and determination. Each page is the product of a kaliedescope of emotions, ranging from bewildering delimma or mass hysteria to the unbounded estacy of editors, photographers and staff.

Staff members collaborate!

Behind the scenes, the 1969-70 Dispatch often created a picture of complete bedlam as frantic "newsfinders" scurrie to and fro in utter confusion against the backdrop of clicking typewriters and the buzzing of reporter-editor consultations. Steered by editor Sue Downs, and advisor, Mrs. Wurth, the staff worked in a combined effort to create an individualistic publication geared toward promoting student interests in current issues, school functions, and student government. Staff members often put in hours of work before and after school, writing stories composing headlines, and uncovering potentail news. At lunch, classroom turned cafeteria, as reporters, dividing their time between hamburgers and headlines, waged a gallant battle to meet their deadlines. As a result of their efforte, Dispatch gained recogination as a top high school newspaper.

inter club council

Scholars, speakers, athletes, and muscians joined forces to create Savanna's 1969-70 inter-club on campus. Members exchanged ideas and discussed the plans and problems of their particular clubs. They accomplished a great deal by presenting the interests of clubs in general to the student council, undertaking a number of fund-raising projects, and generally unifying the interests of campus organizations, thus contributing to their successful operation.

girls league

The lace-trimmed, miniskirted, perfumed, and powdered portion of the student body gained recognition through Savanna's Girls League. This group of feminine leaders sponsored many activities during the year including the Christmas Formal, "Peace on Earth," holiday candy sales, and a number of worthwhile service projects.

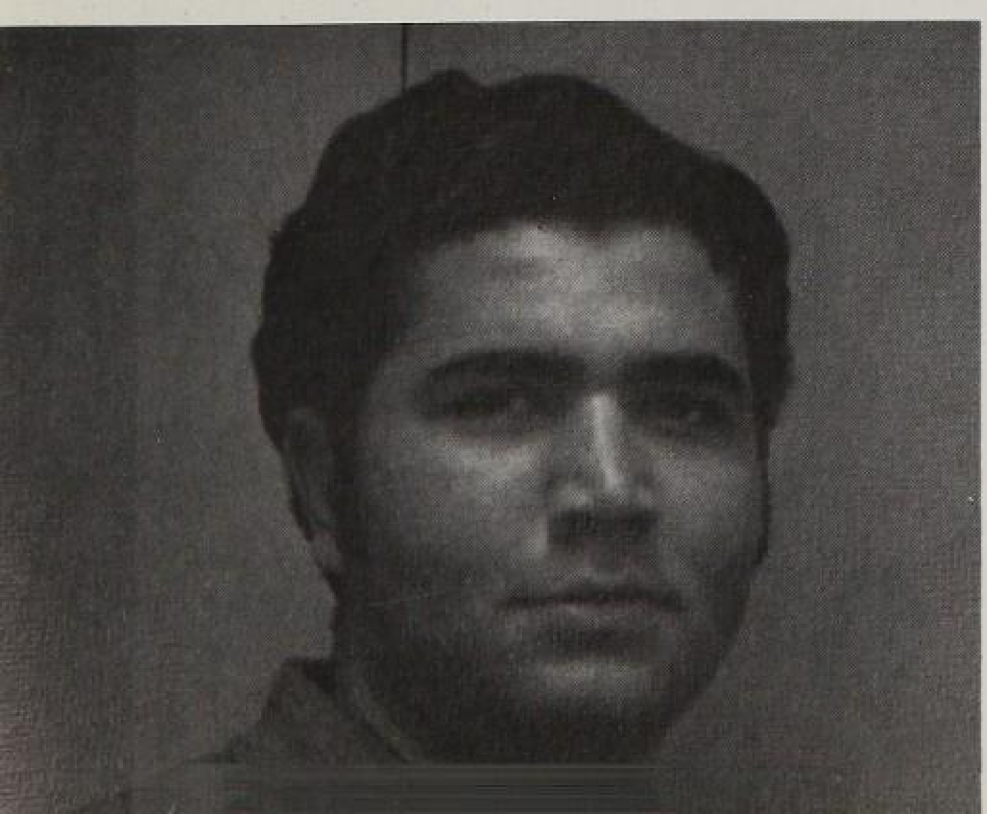
L. Ferrari, Congress President



Voicing student opinions, ideas and protests, and attempting to fulfill the requests and demands of the general student body were the most important functions of Student Congress. This vital branch of student government, comprised of representatives from each first period class on campus, attempted to gain a greater understanding of student problems and present them in an effective manner to faculty, and administration thus contributing to the improvement of student-administrator relations and communications. This year's Congress also made sizable contributions to the Savanna Improvement Fund through a number of fund raising ventures, including their annual carnation sale at Christmas time.

nhs and csf offer scholarships to most eligible students

Intellect and involvement shared by the members of NHS-CSF greatly contributed to its successful year. CSF initiated a tutoring program whereby students signed up for tutors (members of CSF) to help them with their studies. For their annual field trip CSF attended a movie, "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid." Later in the year they held a recognition banquet to honor senior members.

key club helps needy people

The Savanna Key Club, ever helpful, hardworking and courteous, enjoyed a satisfying year of helping others. This year's Key Club did much to improve and aid the community and school by undertaking and successfully accomplishing a variety of projects. Money to finance these services was attained through a number of ingenious sales, drives and collections initiated by the club, including the sale of Savanna Key Chains to members of the student body.

An interest in the sciences and a sense of humor are the two ingredients in the composition of Science Club members. This highly explosive combination, when blended with a young advisor, Richard Lodyga, equaled a year of fun and good times.

Tati becomes acquainted with the American form of government.

Music is one of Tati's favorite hobbies.

Tatiana Heredia, affectionately nick named "Tati" by her Savanna friends, became a member as part of the AFS program. During her stay Tati became completely "Rebelized" taking an active interest in school functions, including, Girls Glee and football games which she found somewhat confusing. The amiable, somewhat shy, Miss Heredia hales from Cuzco, Peru. Her father is an engineer in Cuzco and her mother is an English teacher. Tati's made her American home with the Pence family, whose daughter, Jean, is a senior at Savanna.

Tati's plans, on returning home, include completing her education and later becominng a tour guide there.

The American Field Service contributes greatly to Savanna's interest and understanding of foreign nations. This year's ambitious club undertook a number of fund-raising projects during the year, including a salt water taffy sale, sponsoring a co-rec and their annual bond sale to aid the foreign exchange program. During February they hosted foreign exchange students from various high schools as they toured the Savanna campus for a day, visiting classrooms, lecturing and inviting questions concerning their native lands.

Savanna's Speech Club has been very active this year as it has always been. They have been in various competitions, varying, from interpretive speaking all the way to debating. Many of the members are in a national speech honor society which is called the National Forensic League. It is very difficult to obtain membership in this type of honor society. You must attend many competitions and score in them in order to accumulate enough honorpoints.

Ole! Savanna's Spanish Club is one of our fine clubs on campus. It has made field trips to many Spanish films and visit Spanish speaking areas. It has planned a summer trip to visit a city in Mexico. The Spanish Club has contributed much to Savanna. Membership in this club is an outstanding way for our students to learn about cultures as well as the one that we live in. Mrs. Dutch the advisor has done a fine job in organizing Savanna's Spanish Club.

Vive la France! An enthusiasm and flair for the French language and culture is the common bond between members of Savanna'a French Club. Better aquaintance with the customs of France and the daily life of her people was attained through a number of activities and outings. Members had an opportunity to dine in French restaurants, and attend a French film. One of their fund raising activities was a bottle drive. At regular club meetings they have been taught many different French songs and games. They are really an active organization on our Rebel campus.

modern dance inspires self-expression

Kathy Delf, Christie Boetcher, and Pam Hanson, express Modern Dance beautifully.

Ever graceful, expressive, and feminine, the Modern Dance Organization experienced a memorable and rewarding year, under the direction of their advisor Miss Jones. Among their many successful projects, the dancers sponsored a candy sale in November to help finance their annual spring show. They helped decorate for all of the Savanna athletic banquets, and by wearing their new red and gray uniforms on game days helped promote pep in general. Special dance activities were held during the year, including a symposium attended by over a hundred students from through-out the Orange County District.

The Modern Dance spring show was the high light of the year. The title was "Mirrored Reflections," and featured the theme "Moods." It truly reflected the many hours of work used toward it's preparation. This productive year for Modern Dance ended with an annual banquet, where officers were disclosed.

The Sa-Rebs are a very busy club, as well as being a fund-raising club. They performed many services to our community such as activities including caroling at a convalescent home, decorating our campus, and providing guide service for Open House.

The Serve-Anns, also as servicable, have had a busy year. In November, a huge pickle sale was undertaken, and Christmas-time, brought visits to many hospitals. A swapmeet closed the year for the Serve-Anns.

"Ambitious" is the word which best describes Savanna's Future Business Leaders of America. This hardworking group was constantly on the go. They conducted fund raising drives, attended a business conference at Union Oil and three day state conventions at Oakland. Members also made field trips to the stock exchange, courts, and sponsored California's Southern Section of FBLA Conference at Savanna. Through these activities the members of FBLA made an excellent start in becoming the future business leaders of America.

Faulty wiring and intricate circuitry, synonomus to utter confusion to the average person, are a major source of enjoyment and fascination to the members of the electronics club. This year the club performed a number of "electrifying" services including repairing the circuitry of Savanna's pep sign, fixing household appliances, and installing the wiring in the new student store. In addition to these services, they held a fund-raising car wash in October, and many "just for fun" activities during the year.

Against the backdrop of props, lighting equipment, costumes, assorted paraphanelia, the drama club attempted not only to improve their dramatic skills, but to aid various charities. For three days in October, club members gave up their lunch money and sent it to the Biafran Children's Relief Fund. At Christmas time the club played Santa Claus to a needy Santa Ana family by bringing them a tree, Christmas dinner, and gifts. All in all, it's a productive year for Drama Club.

Proudly smiling, the Rebel-Annes carry on.

Marching their way through the year with early morning practice sessions, parades, performances, and pep assemblies, Savanna's Rebel-Annes gained recognition, respect and admiration for themselves and Savanna everywhere they went. They collected a number of awards including some at the Santa Monica Parade, Los Alamitos Christmas Parade and the Annual Halloween Parade. Their showmanship and pride carried them through.

rebels display spirit on campus

Radiating with friendly enthusiasm, the pert blonde Kris Jolliff, Rebel-Anne head leader; and advisor, Miss Dorie Knaub; guided the Rebel-Annes through a year of trials and tribulations, tears and ectasy, that composed the heart and soul of the Rebel-Anne Drill Team's marching spirit.

Drum Major, Mitch Fennell

Trudging faithfully through the wet grass and fog of an early fall morning, or performing a halftime show led by drum major Mitch Fennell, the 1970 Savanna Band generated strong spirit among the Savanna students. During the year it participated in the Seventh Annual Band and Drill Team Spectacular at Anaheim Stadium, the Holloween parade, All Western Band Review and many other performances. Among the honors received by the band were a first place in the Los Alamiton parade and first runner-up and showmanship trophies at Chaffey. Their successful year is clear evidence of their belief in their motto "If you think it's perfect it's time to raise your standards."

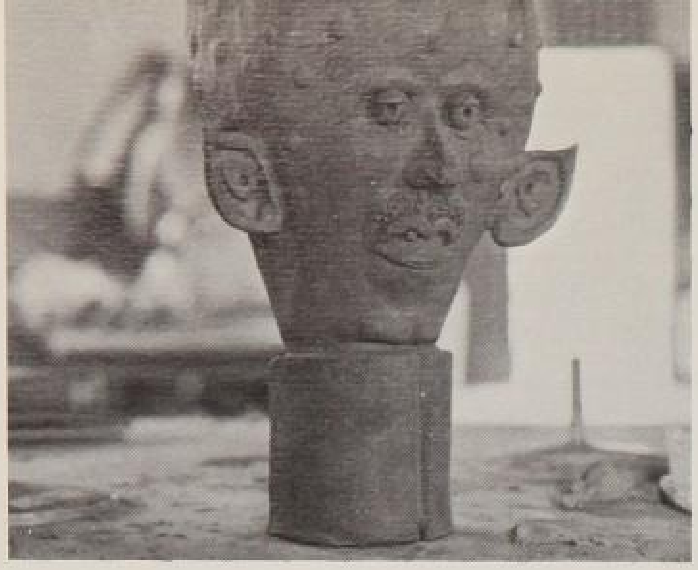
Filling the air with vibrant music, Savanna's A Cappella and Madrigals brought exciting musical enrichment to the Savanna campus and surrounding community. Sopranos and booming basses combined in perfect harmony, performing virtually every type of music from religious hymns to modern jazz. The groups participated in "Holiday in Music," an all district music festival at the Anaheim Convention Center, where one Madrigal, Mary Hurtzeler, performed a solo. They were also part of the traditional Candlelight Procession at Disneyland, an honor bestowed on only three of the district's high schools. Throughout the year Madrigals and A Cappella displayed their talents at many concerts not affiliated with the school gaining recognition far and wide.



Increasing the influence of, art on campus, promoting an interest in art among members of the student body, and strengthening their own knowlege and appreciation of art are the goals of art club. The club's agenda included a number of field trips; excursions to Buzza Cardoza Greeting Card Company, La Cienaga Blvd's, "Gallery Row" and L.A. County museum. A number of ingenous money making projects including a black light poster sale, and painting and decorating store windows for the Christmas holidays enabled club members to maintain adequate funds for their many ventures.

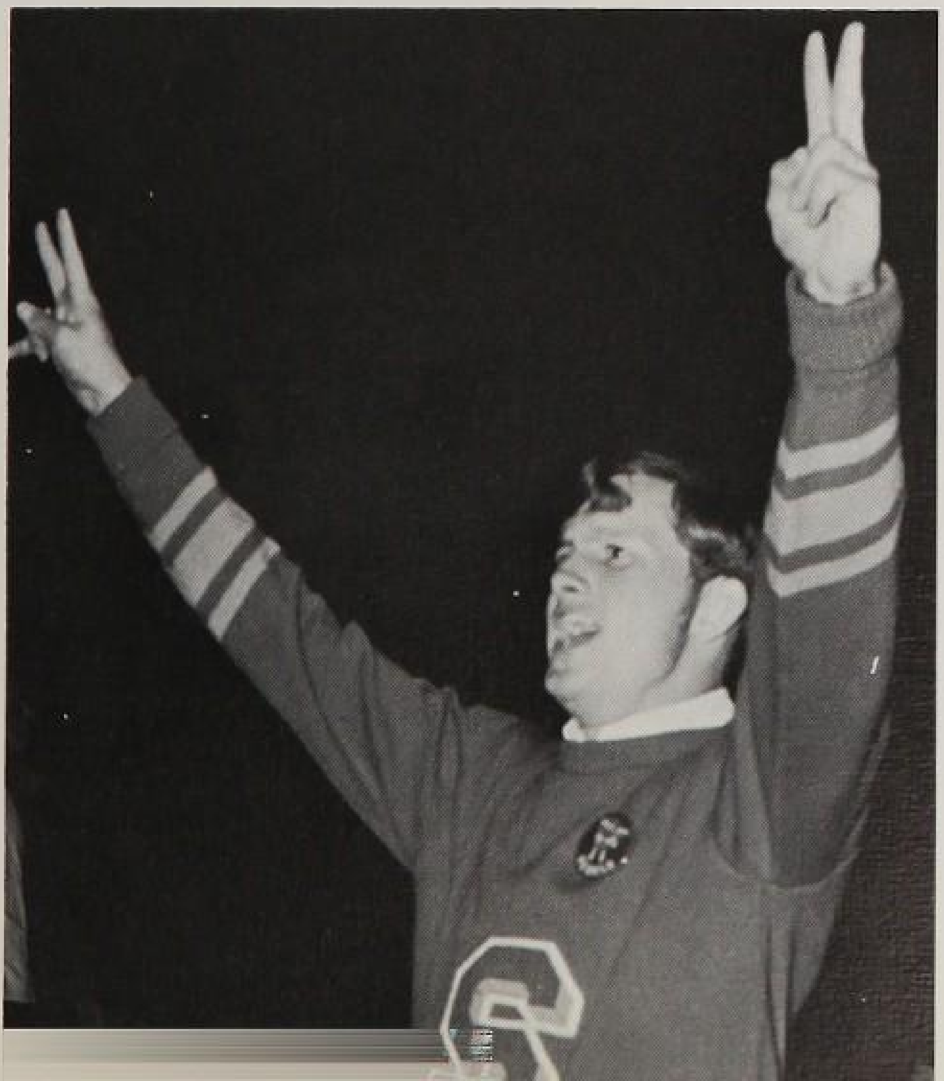
SPOOK SUNNY HILLS

The song and cheerleaders use a little paint, paper and cheer to push the Rebel football team on to a 3-0 victory over Sunny Hills.



Bubbling with energy and enthusiasm, the Song and Cheer squad of 1969-70 became a vital and beloved part of the Rebel scene. For the first time in Savanna's history the cheer squad included two masculine members, Charlie Lawrence and Charlie Ross. These thirteen talented acrobats were constantly on the go, entertaining students at pep assemblies, composing new cheers, attending clinics and skyrocketing school spirit. Displaying remarkable sportsmanship and stamina, they attained many top honors and awards for their performances and ingenuity, but more important, they became the primary promoters of Rebel pride, spirit, and determination.

beat kennedy week proves reb spirit

Cries of "Beat Kennedy" and "Stomp the Irish" blared from the P.A. system, splashed across brightly colored banners and echoed from every corner during September's "Spirit Week". Classrooms decked with streamer's took on a festive atmosphere as classroom routine gave way to a spectacular display of spirit, pride, and tradition which engulfed the entire student body. A rootbeer drinking contest, bike and hat days, powder puff football game, pep assembly and other "spirit oriented" Activities received enthusiastic participation, spirit soared skyward with a helicopter. Each night loyal Rebels (particularly Service Gents) protected the school from "Irish" invasion. The traditional Savanna vs. Kennedy game at Handel Stadium served as an exciting grand finale to an eventful week.

those were the days . . .

With all the captivating charm of a fantasy land princess, Cathy Engstrom assumed the coveted title of Savanna Belle, 1969-1970. Adorned in a formal of olive chiffon and velvet, Cathy began her reign amidst the old time magic of "Those Were the Days."

Proudly, Cathy's father escorted his radiantly happy daughter to her throne, where beautiful Renee LeBeau placed a glittering crown upon her head. Beaming with excitement, Cathy's eye's glistened with tears as the red velvet cloak was tied about her. With an armful of roses given to her by ASB President, Randy Newkirk, Cathy presented a picture of sheer loveliness and joy.

Homecoming 1969 will long be remembered and cherished. After a thrilling and victorious win over the Buena Park Coyotes, the spirited Rebs returned home to prepare for the traditional homecoming dance. Gone were the sweatshirts, jeans, and tennis shoes, as lovely couples emerged. As Rebels crossed the threshold of the newly converted gym, they were asked to sign the Queen's register, which was later presented to her. Dancing to the music of "Yes Indeed," among film heroes of yesteryear, couples experienced a delightful evening. With the dance at an end, and the last light extinguished, that feeling of happiness lingered on.

rebs act in and direct three one-act plays

A marriage proposal, glass animal collection, and a length of twine, set the scene for "One Night Only," a singular performance of three student-directed one-act plays. The curtain opened with "The Glass Menagerie," the story of a young, crippled girl and a kind young man who befriends her. "A Marriage Proposal," the second production, was a nonsense-comedy with a shy Russian gentleman asking for the hand of his neighbor's boisterous, argumentive daughter. The final play, "Not Enough Rope," was a satirical comedy which concerned a derranged young woman attempting unsuccessfully to hang herself.

The traditionally romantic atmosphere which usually accompanies the "Sophomore Sweetheart" dance, was cast aside for "Barbeque and Bedlam." The attire was casual. In the afternoon, those attending enjoyed volleyball, ping pong, and other recreations. Afterwards a hearty picnic supper was prepared. Later couples moved into the gym and danced to the music of the "Open Wheat". Highlighting the evening was the crowning of the 1969-70 "Sophomore Sweetheart" Dana Burnett.

The "wild and wooly" era of such beguiling scroundels as Billy the Kid and Butch Cassidy was revived on Western Day during Savanna's spring spirit week. Students were clad in a wide array of cowboy hats and boots and were armed with squirt guns. Mr. Landry demonstrated his skill with ropes, whips, and guns. That evening a student vs. faculty donkey basketball game was held in the Savanna gym. Other activities included bike day, a noon band concert on the grass and the treacherous mud pit. ICC's Mardi Gras, followed by a car rally, provided a fitting climax to a fun and festive week.

Lights dimmed and the audience as silent as the first performance of "Twelve Angry People" began. The play was the second production to be staged by the drama department during the year. This emotion packed drama involved twelve jurors whose task it was to decide the guilt or innocence of a young boy. The curtain closed on a cheery note as the boy was pronounced "not guilty."

Although the Levee Theater was packed at both performances, and the cast did a beautiful job, viewers left the theater slightly disappointed at the lack of action.

september

The month of September was filled with the shuffling of IBM cards, the rescheduling of classes, and quite a few lost sophomores. The co-rec sponsored by the cheerleaders renewed old friendships and helped make many new ones. Spirit and excitement started moving with the arrival of football games, pep assemblies, club meetings, yearbook sales, class rings, and the new dress code.

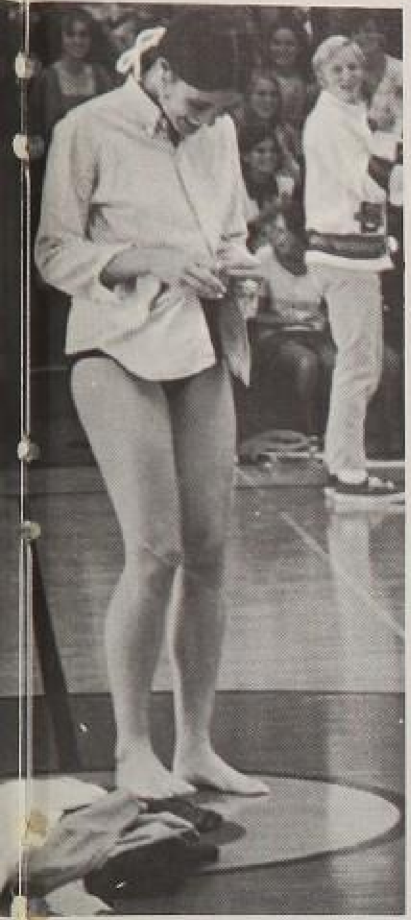
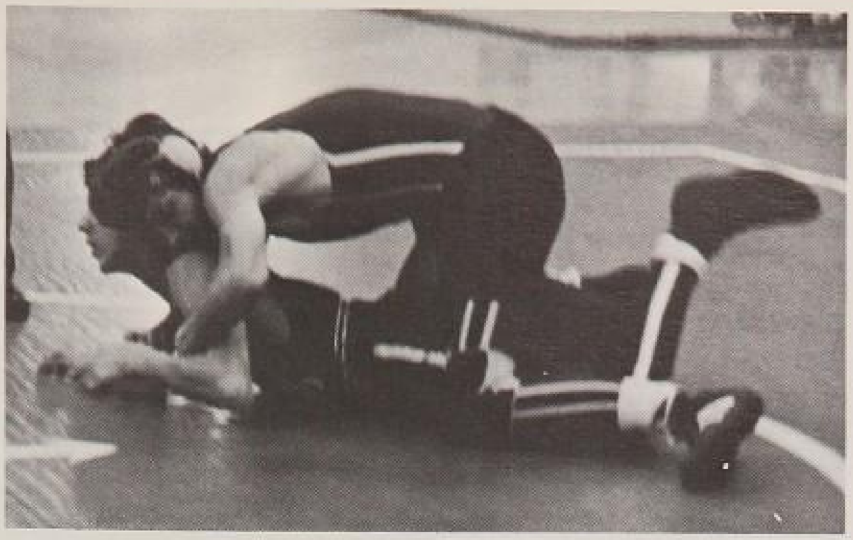
november

An orange and gold November brought scores of activities for spirited Savannans. Pep Assemblies and co-recs stimulated spirit and provided weekly entertainment. Savanna received athletic recognition via a second place football team and a "moving" cross country team. The band and drill team glorified Savanna's image at several parades and at the All Western Band Review. With the end of November came the start of college tests and the close of the first quarter.

october

October was the month of ghosts and gobblins, Homecoming, Beat Kennedy Week, and football. It was adorned with weekly posters, streamers, and victory slogans. The 1969 Homecoming celebration brought forth Cathy Engstrom as its queen; while, during the following spirit week, many activities such as a bike day and a helicopter dropping red ping-pong balls on the center quad, were viewed by students. The drill team and band, for the second year in a row, won top honors at Chaffey. With the help of spirited spectators, the rebel football team was off to a winning start for the 1969 season.





december

Harmony rings out in the month of December. Savanna's glee clubs were involved in their annual Christmas Concert. As always they came through with an outstanding performance. Also in the month of December, the annual Christmas formal brought forth a very quiet and peaceful mood, which went along with their theme of "Peace On Earth." To keep in the mood of Christmas, the Girl's League had a candy cane sale, and the Service Gents sold Christmas bulbs.

In our Drama Dept. a very controversial play was presented "Twelve Angry People".

january

The end of the semester, or "dead week," plagued many students with final exams and last minute research papers the month of January. But, despite the work to be done, students filled their evenings and afternoons with activities such as basketball games, wrestling matches, swim meets, and pep assemblies. During the month A.F.S. sponsored a dance and a post basketball game co -rec was held.

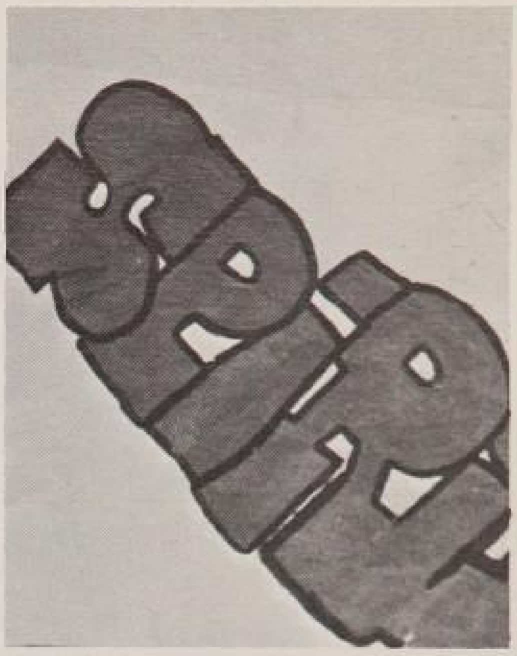
The March wind blew mercilessly, boldly awakening the azure skies and colorful blossoms of spring. The gaiety of the season made a perfect setting for the 1970-71 Song and Cheer try-outs as multitudes of merry maidens bubbling with excitement and enthusiasm vied for selection. March also brought St. Patrick's Day with green carnations for friends and lovers. Finally, and happily, it brought spring recess for Rebs.

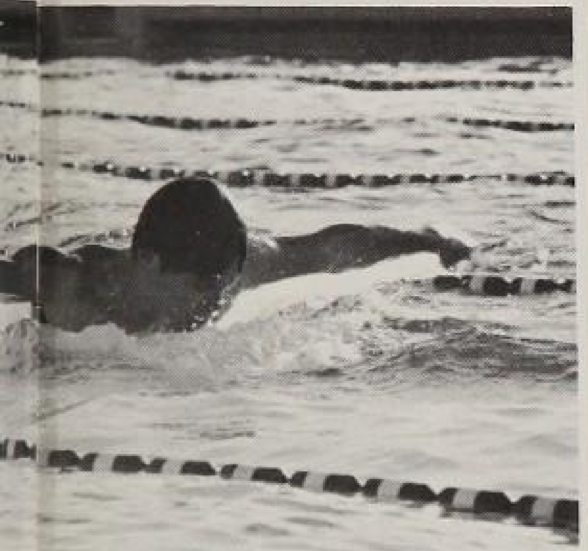
may

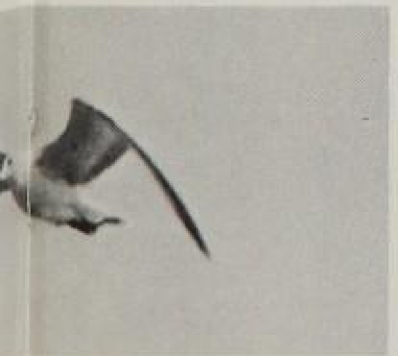
The merry, merry month of May hosted the long awaited Junior-Senior prom, highlight of the year's social events. Awards banquets honoring outstanding students in everything from Modern Dance to Athletes were frequent, and the warmer weather turned thoughts toward summer.

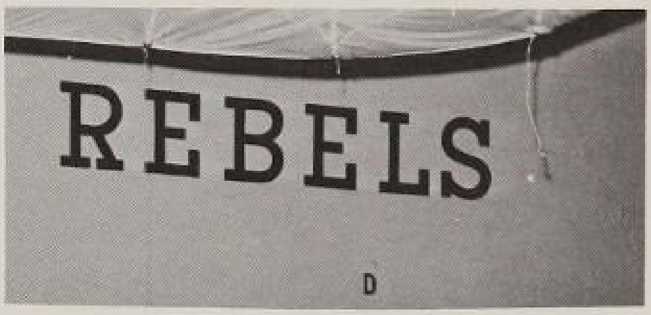
april

April 70 at Savanna proved to be an active month for one and all. Leading off the month's activities was a spirit week featuring the treacherous "mud pit". The festive mardi gras staged by I.C.C. created a carnival atmosphere. Service Gents Jolly Green Giant Dance received by music lovers and the Drill Teams Annual Spring Show proved to be a spectacular event.









june

June brought mixed feelings of joy and sorrow to Rebs anticipating release, perhaps forever. Inviting daydreams of sunny beaches hindered feeble attempts to prepare for finals. A Senior Brunch held in their honor, and a memorable graduation brought an end to the 1969-70 school year.

An education isn't how much you have committed to memory, or even how much you know. It's being able to differentiate between what you do know and what you don't. It's knowing where to go to find out what you need to know; and it's knowing how to use the information once you get it.

Although this poem is at the beginning of the football section, it is indicative of the athletes and coaches here at Savanna, who are continually striving to better themselves physically as well as morally.

if

If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you,
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting too;
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or being lied about, don't deal in lies,
Or being hated, don't give way to hating,
And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise:

If you can dream—and not make dreams your master;
If you can think—and not make thoughts your aim;
If you can meet with Triumph and Disaster
And treat those two imposters just the same;
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,
Or watch the things you gave your life to, broken,
And stoop and build 'em up with worn-out tools:

If you can make one heap of all your winnings
And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss,
And lose, and start again at your beginnings
And never breathe a word about your loss;
If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew
To serve your turn long after they are gone,
And so hold on when there is nothing in you.
Except the Will which says to them: "Hold on!"

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virture,
Or walk with Kings—nor lose the common touch,
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you but none too much;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds worth of distance run;
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And—which is more—you'll be a Man, my son!

I am a youth. I have been given the great gift of life.
Insignificant, young, unhappy perhaps,
But with all rejoicing that I have the opportunity to make my life
A source of good and of benefit in this, God's universe.
I desire, above all things, to enrich the world a bit for my having lived in it;
This is my creed, the hope on which I base my life.

With all eyes upon me, I seek a new life,
One in which I can fulfill my desires,
And those eyes that see me will find that youth can give itself in helping to make a more properous world.
